9-1-2014	"How sprint cars are fundamentally different than other race cars" By Basem Wasef August 14, 2014 ONLINE website Rodandtrack.com	1-3	Not as many people are into sprint cars. They are not as big as NASCAR. Sprint cars run on shorter wheel bases, so they are harder to control. They can be winged or not winged, but the winged cars are more difficult to handle. They can be dangerous if you do not drive them with great care.
